ALTMAN, COLORADO

Altman.

Located on the summit of Bull Hill at an elevation of 10,700 feet, Altman is an ideal mining town. While many of the rich mining properties of the District are located in the neighborhood the facilities for reaching the valley towns are so excellent that many of the miners prefer to travel back and forth rather than to reside at so high an altitude. We include in the list given below those residents near Altman who receive their mail at that point as well as those who have no regular postoffice address, giving locations where possible. We do not give the names of mines except in the mining list, which will be found further on. We estimate the population of Altman and the surrounding hills at 1,200.
