ANACONDA

Anaconda.

Location of the great Anaconda mine, the first large producer of the District, from which the town takes its name. An incorporated town at the foot of Gold Hill in Squaw Gulch, on the Florence & Cripple Creek, and Midland Terminal Railroads, two miles southeast of Cripple Creek. Surrounded by many mines which give promise of richness equal to anything in the District, with the works of the Brodie Gold Reduction Company at Mound City and a favorable location, Anaconda now has a start which assures it a position among the great mining camps of the world. The Anaconda Assayer, a newspaper of genuine merit, is represented. The town officers are at present: Mayor, Henry P. Dahl; Clerk, Robert Snyder; Treasurer, J. C. Outhouse; Marshal, Lyman Conwell; Police Judge, A. A. Smith. In the lists which follow are given 700 names, which, after deducting the mines, names of incorporated companies and business firms repeated, would indicate a population of 1800.

Up to March, 1892, the total product of Gold in the Cripple Creek

District was 1,502,200.

GILES OTIS PEARCE

and began the treatment of the surface ores by ASSAYING quantity, and by the use of the highest possible heat. This method revealed that gold did exist. At this time there was not one favorable expert report on all Cripple Creek shipments started as in the case of Pearce's results which were confirmed at the smelters. The camp went up a rocket and by January 1st, 1893 nearly $700,000 worth more had found market. The production is up wards of $1,000,000 per month.

Cripple Creek.

All the world knows of Cripple Creek. How in the summer of 1891 the first ore was discovered, and how with varying ups and downs the town grew and prospered until the spring of 1896 saw a great city of 20,000 people, surrounded by camps and smaller towns which swelled the population of the greatest gold district on earth, to about 40,000 souls. Then came the two great fires with so brief a time between, sweeping away everything, and the world stood aghast at the greatness of the calamity. From everywhere came offers of help to rebuild the city, but all were rejected and the enterprising people who make up the population of Cripple Creek, went to work in dead earnest. To-day (October 1st, 1896,) only five short months after the fire, where once stood one and two story frame buildings with miserable shacks scattered here and there, now loom up magnificent structures of brick and stone, and Cripple Creek is transformed like magic from the crude western mining camp to a metropolitan city, with all the comforts and luxuries to be had in any place of like size, in the world.

Cripple Creek is the terminus of two railroads—The Florence & Cripple Creek and The Midland Terminal; is an important point on the Western Union and Postal Telegraph lines and is the commercial center and metropolis of a district 45 square miles in area. It has one of the most thorough systems of water works in the state, supplying in abundance the purest water; a fire alarm telegraph system recently completed by the Gausewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company of New York, and a thoroughly trained and efficient fire department, consisting of three hose companies and a hook and ladder company. Its public schools are of the best, and churches
